

TOMMY THE TENDERFOOT No. 8 TOMMY'S STALKING
"Keep up your end when you're stalking your fox."
(It might read in two ways as Tommy now knows.)

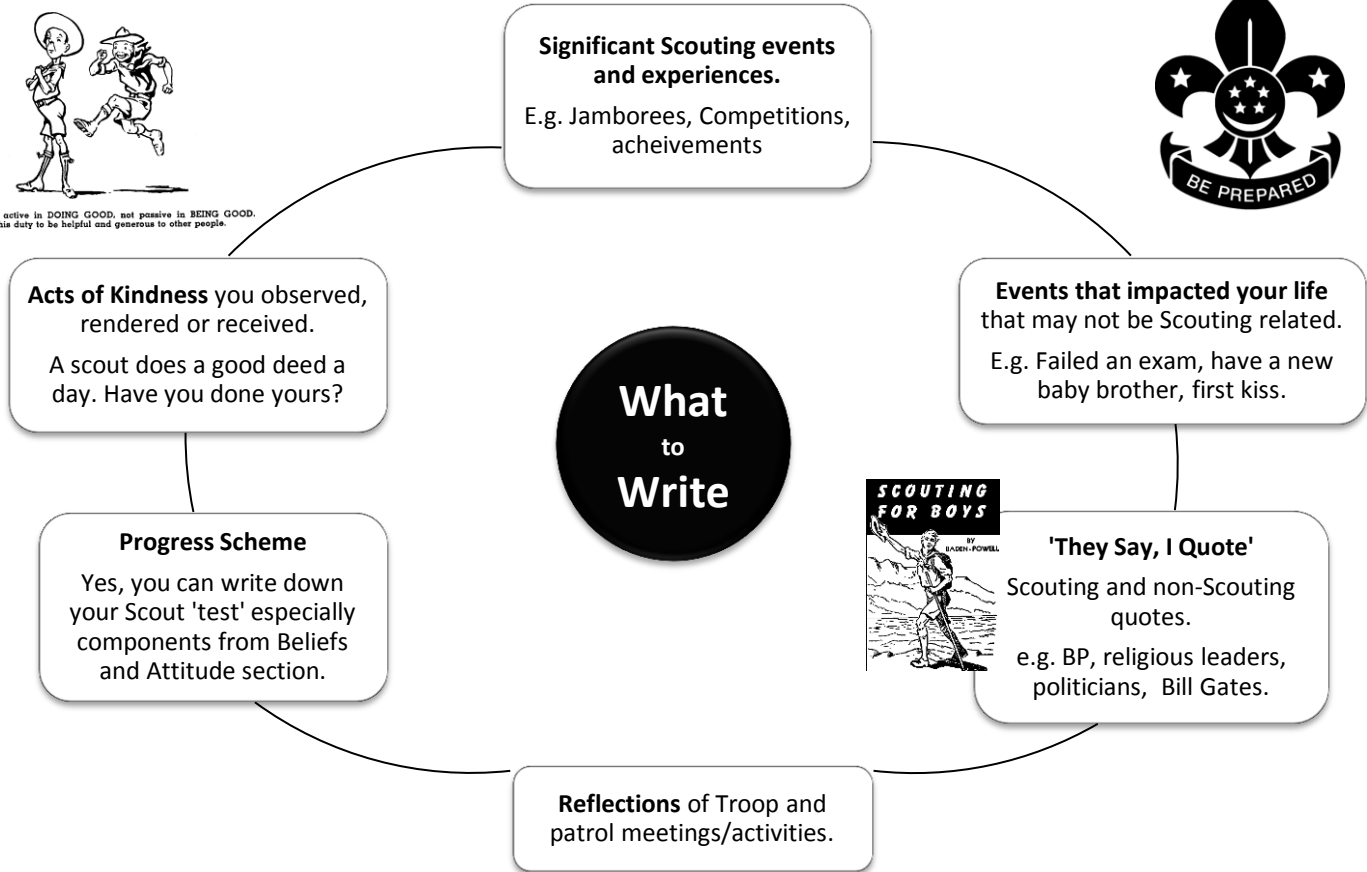

Le Journal pour Scouting Journey

Scouts are special trained soldiers who move ahead of their deployment to reconnaissance enemies' secrets. They are masterful in skills of observation, espionage, disguise and survival. Do you know that Scouting was the brain child of Lord Baden Powell and he borrowed the idea from the military Scout AKA spy and made it into Scouting for Boys (and girls now)?

How do Scouts take note of what they observed in detail? Besides having keen senses like a mentalist (The Mentalist), they need to jot down their discoveries as they journey into the unknown. It's like a diary or journals kept by explorers. The new Scout Progress Scheme incorporates this Journaling idea by inviting all Scouts to keep a personal journal to detail their Scouting journey.

A Scout is active in DOING GOOD, not passive in BEING GOOD.
It is his duty to be helpful and generous to other people.

Writing Entries

You are not restricted to only one medium of entry for your journal. You can choose to write, blog, draw, take pictures, and do collages. A simple guide to entry writing is the:-

- What, Where, Who, When? Describe the event like a descriptive essay.
- How? What was your role? How were you involved and how it impacted you?
- Why? Why is this event/entry noteworthy? Your reflections and afterthoughts.

Reflections Guide

- What did you learn from the activity?
- What challenges did you encounter? How did you overcome them?
- What could you have done better?
- How did your patrol perform as a team?
- Who in your patrol contributed the most to the success? And why?
- How are your patrol mates performing? Who caught your attention and why?

An entry a week keeps the Scoutmaster away!
